Give Your Audience More Than An Experience...

Carrie has a personal yet compelling message to share. The cure for letting go of perfection to create a life of value and purpose begins on the other side of changing our habits.

Carrie teaches her audiences how to tap into the development of “lifetime” skills of communicating to create their own economic value in today’s global economy.

Why Carrie?

If you’re looking for someone remarkable and at the top of her game to provide “in-the-room” decisions of what habits you can shift to be seen, valued and heard more, you have found just the person.

- Carrie is deeply relatable, intentional and action-oriented.
- She believes that when you leave the room of any event, you should take with you the awareness and the proven belief that you can have the success you deserve on your terms.
- Carrie’s teaching approach is a catalyst for organizational transformation and cultural shifts.

Ultimately, she teaches her audiences the power of sponsorship in professional development and how to UP-level their skills to provide the perspective needed to collaborate in today’s diverse markets.

4 Reasons to book Carrie

1 | SHE BELIEVES IN THE POWER OF PEOPLE

What is really clear no matter the setting, is Carrie has the courage of conviction to stand up for and believe in people. She inspires people to believe in themselves which is pretty contagious.

2 | SHE DELIVERS PRACTICAL SKILLS AND TECHNIQUES

Your audience will be energized by the movement and creativity they will put to use in the room and immediately when they leave. People always learn a skill or deepen a skill in any session.

3 | SHE CREATES A SPACE OF TRUST AND ACCEPTANCE

She delivers the strength of her experience and vulnerability to stir people into action to drop into their heart and share themselves safely with others. More importantly, she leads the way for the audience to courageously share themselves with others.

4 | RESPECT PEOPLE, MAKE MONEY, AND HAVE FUN

She understands the stress and drain that often people feel from the grind of their lives. Through a highly creative experience of her high energy she delivers an interactive session with videos, music, presentation and audience interaction and participation to move the practical exercises into results.

Raving Fans

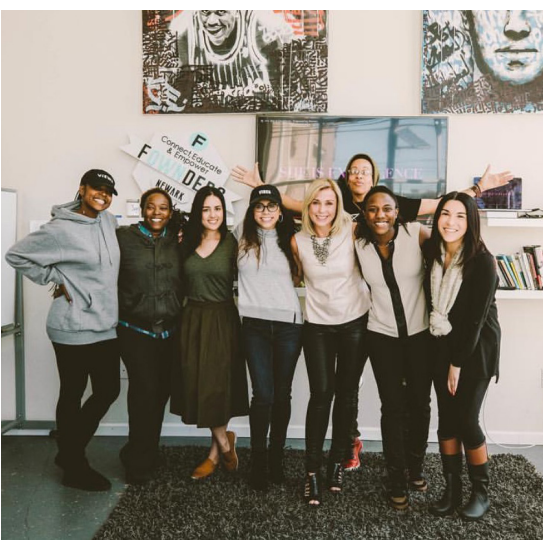

A true leader and educator. She is sheer force that I am confident will make a serious impact on individuals and leading corporations. Carrie has deep knowledge and insight into human behavior and the complicated dynamics of corporate culture.
